

Symposium

The Oral Health of Older Populations in Australia

The Cooperative Research Centre for Oral Health Science (CRC-OHS) is organising a one-day symposium to provide an initial assessment of needs, identify the key components of a general action plan, and discuss the development of a coordinated approach for oral health care for older adults. The symposium is of interest to oral health, health and public health professionals, gerontologists, students and all those interested in providing better health care to older adults.

Date: 21 September 2007

Time: 9.00am to 4.15pm

Venue: Jean Falkner Tahija Theatre, School of Dental Science, The University of Melbourne, 720 Swanston St, Carlton.

Cost: $nil

CPD Credit: 5 hours

To register: please email Verity McDonald (vmcd@unimelb.edu.au) by close of business on 7 September 2007, including your contact details.

The University of Melbourne School of Dental Science is an approved Educational Activity Provider under the Dental Practice Board of Victoria's Code of Practice on Continuing Professional Development (CPD) and as such this Symposium is credited for 5 hours.

Organised in collaboration with Monash Research for an Ageing Society (MonRAS), Monash University

For information please contact Rodrigo Mariño by email (rmariño@unimelb.edu.au), or on (03) 9341 1558.