Workshop

Relative Analgesia

BRIEF

This course will enable participants to become proficient and confident in the administration of nitrous oxide in clinical practice. Approved by the Australian Society of Dental Anaesthesiology (ASDA), the course provides an efficient introduction to dental relative analgesia. It is also an excellent refresher for dentists wishing to update their theory and practical skills in the delivery of relative analgesia. Participants will be given the opportunity to administer nitrous oxide-oxygen sedation to each other, and to experience themselves the effects of the gases in a safe environment.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

- Know the legal requirements to use RA
- Why use RA instead of other oral sedation
- How to use RA properly
- Sedation on a whole
- Appropriate billing for RA procedures

TOPICS AND PRESENTERS

- Practical application of the use of relative analgesia on patients
- Appropriate maintenance and sterilisation of equipment
- Usage of relative analgesia armamentarium
- Indications and contra-indications of relative analgesia

Dr Michael Walker (NSW) is a conscious sedation practitioner endorsed by the Dental Board, Past President of ASDA and Senior Clinical Associate, External Examiner to the Diploma in Conscious Sedation University of Sydney. He runs one of the largest sedation practices in Sydney, where nitrous oxide sedation forms an integral part of his practice on a daily basis.

Dr Angelo Preketes (NSW) is the Secretary for ASDA and sits on the ADA’s Dental Practice Committee. He is currently teaching the University of Sydney Bachelor of Dentistry students at Westmead Hospital in managing medical emergencies. He is in private practice focusing on providing pain management techniques to deal with phobic, anxious patients as well as implant and general dentistry.
