Evolution and Revolution in Dentistry

Friday 22 – Saturday 23 August 2014

12 CPD Hours

Plus free entry to the ADIA Victorian Dental Show

Melbourne Convention and Exhibition Centre - Southbank
Evolution and Revolution in Dentistry is the event for everyone in your practice.

With programs for practice managers, dental assistants and dental hygienists running concurrently with the dentists program at the Melbourne Convention and Exhibition Centre, this is a great opportunity to bring your team together for a whole-of-practice Continuing Professional Development event.

The ADAVB Convention is supported by Guild Insurance and the Australian Dental Industry Association.

About ADIA
ADIA represents member companies that manufacture and supply products and services used in dentistry. Our purpose is to represent the interests of members for the benefit of the industry, the promotion of dentistry and to advance the oral health care of all Australians.

ADIA 2014 Victoria Dental Show
The ADIA is very happy to again be partnering with the ADAVB to produce a comprehensive exhibition to complement their scientific convention program.

The Industry exhibition will be in the Melbourne Convention and Exhibition Centre, Southbank. If you are a dentist or allied oral healthcare professional, be sure to attend the 2014 ADIA Victorian Dental Show.

This is your opportunity to meet local suppliers of quality dental equipment who are there to introduce you to the latest products from Australia and overseas. The Dental Show is an opportunity for all delegates to discuss clinical issues challenging your practice and the techniques, materials and equipment available to address your patient’s needs.

We look forward to meeting you at the Dental Show and the ADIA member businesses are pleased to invite you to a complimentary welcome reception to be held in the 2014 ADIA Victoria Dental Show Melbourne Rooms 1 and 2 on the Friday August 22 between 5:30pm and 7:00pm.

Dr Eryn Agnew is a Periodontist with 30 years private and public sector experience and also examines for the Australian Dental Council. A New Zealand graduate, she moved to Australia in 1980 and for the past 4 years has worked for the ADAVB as a Community Relations Officer (CRO) and Professional Consultant. Together with her experience as a member of Professional Standards Panels for the DPBV, this has led to an interest in risk management for dentists. At the coalface of taking calls from distressed or stressed members who are faced with complaints from patients or complications of treatment, she offers an overview of the work of CROs and suggests options for management of the issues.

Dr Anikó Ball suffered over 30 years of neck, shoulder and lower back pain as a practising dentist. Six years ago she contemplated forced retirement as on some days she was hardly mobile, and doctors and physical therapists considered her a hopeless case; none identified a work related injury. Fortunately she commenced the Alexander Technique, learned to improve her posture and is now doing yoga in her spare time and no longer considering retirement. Anikó is passionate about the transformative impact of the Alexander Technique and has undertaken a 1600-hour part-time course at the Melbourne Alexander School. With Michael Shellshear, Anikó has developed “Optimum Posture Management” to address chronic work related pain issues of dentists.

Professor Mark Bartold AM is currently Professor and Director of the Colgate Australian Clinical Dental Research Centre at the University of Adelaide. He is a member of the editorial board of eight international dental journals and is the current Editor of the Australian Dental Journal. Professor Bartold has authored over 200 scientific articles in the field of periodontology. In addition to his research and teaching commitments he also maintains a private specialist periodontics practice.

Dr Richard Basset is the senior Forensic Odontologist and Consultant in Charge of Identification Services at the Victorian Institute of Forensic Medicine. He has a Bachelors of Dental Surgery, a Graduate Diploma in Forensic Odontology, and a PhD in Forensic Medicine. Richard is a Fellow of the Royal Australasian College of Pathologists, and is a course coordinator for the Monash University Masters in Forensic Medicine program. Richard regularly presents and teaches at international conferences, and his research interests include the scientific determination of legal adulthood using CT imaging of the developing dentition and skeleton.

Associate Professor Mina Borromeo completed her undergraduate training and commenced research in the Oral Anatomy, Medicine and Surgery Unit, University of Melbourne, looking at aspects of temporomandibular disorders and the link with jaw muscle function. Mina has also completed a Master of Science in Pain Medicine and holds a FFPMANZCA and FRACDS(SND). Her current areas of interest include bisphosphonates and Osteonecrosis of the Jaws. She currently convenes undergraduate and post graduate training in Special Needs Dentistry. She is also Convenor of Research in the Doctor of Dental Surgery. Associate Professor Borromeo is a registered specialist in Special Needs Dentistry.

Dr Mark Bowman was elected ADAVB Honorary Secretary in 2010. He began service to the ADA as secretary of Group Q in 1986, joined Branch Council 2004 and was Branch President (2007-08). He has served on several different committees and is currently secretary of the Constitution and Policy Committee. Elected to Federal Council in 2008, he is a member of the Federal Policy Committee. He has served as President of the Australian Society of Periodontology Vic Br (2003-04) and is immediate past President of Australian Society of Periodontology Inc. in (2010-2012). He is a consultant with the Department of Veterans’ Affairs and advisor to Department of Health and Ageing. He has a general practice in Hawthorn East.

Dr Kate Burgess started her training at the University of Birmingham before emigrating to Australia completing her undergraduate studies at the University of Western Australia in 2007. She spent a year working within the Aboriginal medical service in rural and remote regions of WA before returning closer to Perth to spend a further few years in a country practice in Mandurah. She returned to further study, completing her Doctorate of Clinical Dentistry in Periodontics at the University of Melbourne in 2013.

Professor Michael Burrow graduated from University of Adelaide in 1981, completed a Master’s Degree in Prosthodontics in 1987 and PhD in 1994 from Tokyo Medical and Dental University, Master of Education in 2003 from the University of Melbourne and recently Doctor of Dental Science from Adelaide University. He is currently Clinical Associate Professor and Program Director in Operative Dentistry at the Faculty of Dentistry, University of Hong Kong and Honorary Professorial Fellow at the Melbourne Dental School. He is currently on the Editorial Boards of four international journals and published over 160 refereed papers.

Adjunct Professor Hanny Calache is Director Clinical Leadership Education and Research at Dental Health Services Victoria. He is a registered Specialist in Paediatric Dentistry, former Senior Lecturer and Coordinator of the Diploma in Oral Health Therapy, Melbourne Dental School, University of Melbourne and Adjunct Professor at La Trobe University.

Ms Anita Carlsson has been involved in the Management of Carlsson Dental Clinic in south west Victoria for the past 30 years. She completed her Business Degree in 1993 as a mature aged student and soon after worked as an Accountant/Patient Services Manager at a local private 60 bed hospital before starting her family.
